

ART JOURNAL CHALLENGE FOR JUNE (Summer Memories)

Posted by nrjanitz - 2014/06/06 12:32

Hello Art Journalers!

I'm sorry that I missed last month for our digital art journal challenge. I was in the process of moving my studio back home to my spare bedroom. It was quite a big project and took much more time than I would have thought :(But, I'm all settled in now and here is a picture of my new space...

For this month's challenge, I'd like us to do a journal page about our best memories of summer. These could be from last week or from our childhood, or any place in between!

Most of my best summer memories as a child have to do with my mom's garden. I think that's why I love to draw and paint flowers so much. Some of my favorite memories of summer are::

- eating cucumbers fresh from our garden
- watching my mom work in the garden
- helping my dad mow the lawn
- swimming at the lake
- laying out in the sun (before sunscreen was invented! LOL)
- bike rides
- cookouts
- horseback riding
- camping

As an adult, I have some new favorite memories:

- reading in the sunroom
- gardening
- making fresh pesto from basil in my garden
- camping with Ellie and John
- running on the trails
- riding my bike
- Ellie and her horse Missy

What are your best summer memories? How can you document them on your page?

Here is a background inspired by my summer memories as well as a quote to get you started.

Have fun and remember there are NO RULES... except to post your page to the Art Journal Gallery and come back here to link us up!

Your studio is beautiful. What a wonderful view Of the garden. My studio is just a 3 x 4-foot piece of masonite that I place over the kitchen sink . . . no view at all. But, it works for me. Supplies are stashed wherever I can find a place to stick them.

Your background art page for this challenge is so beautiful that I had to show it in its entirety for all to see. In addition I used it to create my 8-section mandala. My favorite memories are of some of the fishing trips that I took over the earlier years of my life. Fishing was my favorite sport.

Sorry to be so late getting this layout done. Thanks for the challenge. It's the most journaling I've done in a long time.
