Hi, not a CT member. Just a used to be frustrated beginner. I have a group called Jana Junkies with Bonnie on FB. We discuss classes, websites, pages, ask questions, totally digital. I love a lot of websites and instructors and have taken several of Jessica's classes. We have people that represent her website and others, it is like an all around place. Check us out. We just like to talk and learn and need to know who is offering what for classes. No ads or personal things in the group we only talk ALL digi. That is how two member found Jessica's new class.
