

? about this site when the New Class Site is up

Will the gallery & forum be staying here or will they be deleted. I am super excited for Jessica to update her classes with a new site but I did wonder if this place will be shutting down all together???? I know we will still have our class content but I still come & view forums from time to time in the classroom as there is some great information within them. What will happen to this message board & the lovely gallery of works???? :unsure: :unsure: :unsure:

I believe they're to be archived for access , but I'll have to double check.
